Oak is a hardwood species which is characterised by being extremely hard-wearing and therefore very suitable for flooring. It has an interesting grain structure and over time the natural ageing gives the wood an authentic appearance.

Junckers oak flooring is produced according to Junckers factory standards and in accordance with European standards. The floor boards are made exclusively from solid hardwood, with all the characteristics typical of this natural material. Each style chart will display a unique range of grain and colour characteristics. The photographs are designed to show the average appearance of the style and species. It is normal to see a variation in appearance between individual boards and packs. Up to 5% of the boards may contain features of the next style. Floors laid at different times may vary slightly because of this average grading. Hardwood floors may fade and change colour over time, especially when exposed directly to sunlight.

Oak strip boards and Planks - Harmony

Junckers' DriftWood Grey collection has the fundamental characteristics of a natural oak in a harmony grading.

The floor boards have a natural look with some colour and structural graining variation between the staves.

Sound medium sized black knots and sound knots to any extent. Knots on edges of boards and knots in clusters. Hairline splits - individual and in groups. Sapwood, sapwood streaks and inbark. Minor voids in the surface of the wood. Knots and other features are factory filled with one colour filler.

The colour is created by a priming water based DriftWood Grey stain. The intermediate treatment consists of several coats of UV-light curing lacquer and as top finish a two-component ultra matt polyurethane lacquer is applied.
